ジェントルマンMr. オー氏の「なんじゃこりや☆にっぽん」

I have heard that in Japan ghost stories are told to send shivers down people's spines, cooling people down in the hot Summer months. It is interesting to me that in Japan there is such a practical reason for making someone feel uncomfortable. In England such stories are told for no reason other than to give each other bad dreams. I wonder if making your boss really angry might be a good way to stay warm in the Winter cold. What do you think?
